

hi kate!

i just want to second everything cordelia said and more!

before hsct i could barely move, was in constant pain and not so nice to be around when i wasn't sleeping, which was all i could do and to an excessive degree. over 6 years after hsct i can walk again! live again! i go the museum nearby at least weekly, walk to the library and go to the symphony monthly. i can't believe i can partake in any of these activities considering i was in a nursing home and told to get a hospital bed for home before hsct. because of having hsct my quality of life was restored along with good deal of my independence. it's really an amazing thing.

thank you to northwestern, dr. burt and his team. really - thank you can't even begin to describe how thankful i am...
